DR. WALDEN RESIGNS

On Account of "Feelings of Restraint and Dissatisfaction."

IS IN THE INTERESTS OF HARMONY.

A Health Officer, he says, has a Hard Time of it Under the Best Circumstances, and is Much Worse Just Now—The Health Department has not Adequate Powers—It Needs the Support of the Public—Squabble in Council About the Doctor's Successor.

Yesterday afternoon's session of the council committee on health was short and quiet. A few bills were acted on, and then Dr. Taylor took from his pocket a large envelope, and handed it to Chairman Stathers, who opened it and handed it to the clerk. It was Dr. J. G. Walden's resignation as city health officer. It made no reference to the Dowler salary matter, but was as follows:

To the Honorable Mayor and Council of the City of Wheeling:

GENTLEMEN:—Possibly there are few among you who know the obstacles that a health officer meets in the execution of his duties even under the most favorable circumstances. How much harder has it been in these past few months since the smallpox has been in our midst. In times like these he should have the support of the committee and council, and also the support of the people to efficiently subdue this plague. Adequate powers should be granted him and his committee, which do not at present exist. His committee that recently feelings of restraint and dissatisfaction have grown up between certain members of council and the health officer, which should not exist, and recognizing the importance of harmony in the health department, he tenders his resignation as health officer, to take effect at the pleasure of the council.

On motion of Mr. Haller, the resignation was transmitted to council with a recommendation that it be accepted.

An inquiry was made as to whether the committee had anything to do with naming a successor, and this was answered in the negative. Before it was definitely known that Dr. Walden would resign, however, there were two or three applications for the position named, and it was said one or two, at least, of these were hustling for votes.

In the council meeting last night the resignation was accepted by the second ballot. A motion was made to go into an election of his successor. Mr. Britt and Dr. Taylor both opposed haste. Dr. Taylor dwelt on the importance of the office. Mr. Hahn wanted to elect at once, as did Mr. Willis. Both Dr. Taylor and Dr. Stathers said Dr. Walden could not be justly criticized for his management of the smallpox patients; the health committee had no objection to him on that score. The second ballot, however, voted with but two dissenting voices to go into an election at once.

In the first branch Mr. Richards advocated deliberation, saying that it would not do to make any more mistakes in the matter. Mr. Robinson wanted to accept the resignation, to take effect when his successor was appointed and qualified, and this was adopted. The second branch, however, refused to concur in this, but the first branch adhered to its action and asked a committee of conference.

A motion was then made in the second to adjourn, but this was voted down, and this branch agreed to the committee of conference. Messrs. Butts and Kalbitzer were appointed from the first branch, and Drs. Stathers and Taylor and Mr. Britt from the second.

Mr. Hahn wanted to know if this committee was to represent the individual views of the members or the views of the branch, but nobody told him. The committee reported through Mr. Britt that it had failed to agree.

A resolution by Mr. Butts was adopted in the first branch, providing for a revision of the health ordinance, especially that clause in relation to the employment of physicians at the pest house. This was laid on the table in the second branch.

Considerable of a parliamentary snarl arose. A motion to go into joint session was ruled out of order, as the resignation had not been accepted by both branches and there was no vacancy to fill. A motion to adjourn was voted down in the second branch, but almost immediately renewed and adopted, and this ended the business for the night. Dr. Walden is still health officer, until his resignation is accepted.

The candidates named last night were Dr. E. P. Birney, Dr. Will Eizler, Dr. J. W. McCoy and Dr. Eugene Warren. All but Dr. Birney were on hand at the meeting.

Dr. E. B. Plant, of Sixteenth street, has also been suggested.

FEATURES OF THE MARKET.

An Unlooked-for Drop in Sugars—Lemons Are Away Up Now.

The feature of the wholesale market quotations this week is the drop of one-fourth cent in the price of sugars, something that on the face of it seems inexplicable. With a heavy demand for sugars of all kinds, caused by the large fruit crop that is now being "put up" all over the land, an advance in the ruling quotations was looked for. An Indianapolis man yesterday asked a well known wholesaler what it was that caused the unlooked-for drop. He said that the only explanation at hand is the fact that foreign planters are preparing to send large quantities of sugar into America and the home refiners have manipulated the market in a downward direction in order to keep the foreign product out. It is thought that this action will have the desired effect. A change of one-fourth cent in sugar is a big item in one of two ways to the average wholesale grocer. If he bought a big stock at the higher figure he is not feeling good this week.

Lemons are higher in the wholesale markets than they have been for several years. The local wholesale quotations yesterday were $0.50 and $7.50 per box. This had the effect of advancing the local price from 15 and 20 cents per dozen to 30 and 40 cents per dozen, according to quality. The advance is caused by the heavy hot weather demand and the fears of a small supply.

MUSIC LOVING PEOPLE

Who Heard the Recital at the Cathedral Were Delighted.

Yesterday afternoon in graceful recognition of talent some of Wheeling's music loving people assembled in the Cathedral. Prof. W. S. Sterling, one of Cincinnati's foremost artists and professor of organ and voice culture in the musical college there, with his gifted pupil, Prof. Ed. Yahn, of this city, gave to the listeners such an artistic musical interpretation of the old masters as never before was given here. The program speaks for the high class of the entertainment. The organ has never been better played; the different combinations, the orchestral effects were marvelous. In the manipulation of his favorite instrument, the organ, was his genius noticeable, but it was added to when the notes of the beautiful prelude to the "Romanzo" from Wagner's Tannhauser drew lingeringly to an end and the exquisite voice of Prof. Edward Yahn, his pupil, softly joined the tones from the organ.

Mr. Yahn was born in this city, and Wheeling will have occasion to be very proud of him, as has Prof. Sterling, under whose care his voice was brought forth. For the past four years Prof. Sterling has instructed Mr. Yahn, by the method of William Shakespeare, of London, who is the greatest "Oratorio Singer" instructor in the world, and Mr. Yahn did his teacher and the method credit. His voice is the best naturally in the city and with it come all the artistic effects which cultivation and good instruction bring. It is to be regretted that Prof. Yahn cannot now locate here. It is hoped the day is not far distant when Mr. Yahn will receive from his townspeople the praise and appreciation his efforts merit; until then congratulations to Prof. Sterling for his pupil, and to Mr. Yahn for his instructor will not be amiss. The program was as follows:

Organ—Overture.....Weber
Prof. W. S. Sterling
Voice—Romanzo.....Tannhauser-Wagner
Prof. Ed. A. Yahn
Organ (a. Medtelson).....Mally
(b. March-Athalia).....Medtelson
Prof. W. S. Sterling
Voice—Aria—Thy Glorious Beak, from Sam-sol.....Händel
Prof. Ed. A. Yahn
Organ—Marche—Solennelle.....Gounod
Prof. W. S. Sterling
Voice—Creation Hymn.....Beethoven
Prof. Ed. A. Yahn
Organ—March from Rieud.....Wagner
Prof. W. S. Sterling

ALL EYES ON NEXT WEEK.

A New Era in the History of the West Virginia State Fair.

Everything is shaping up beautifully for the State Fair, which opens next Monday. To-morrow a committee of ladies will be in the main building to receive exhibits for the women's, children's and art departments. The privileges are being taken at a rate which promises to fill the available space with "fakirs" and the like, which really make an entertaining feature of a fair. The running horses continue to arrive and are now nearly all stabled on the grounds.

This week a large force is busy decorating the main building and other departments. They all bid fair to excel in appearance, as well as in contents, any former fair. The new arrangement of stalls and pens for cattle, sheep and swine will be found much more convenient than the old one. A better or handier stock exhibit cannot be seen at any fair.

"The Dazzler" To-night.
This evening "The Dazzler" will open the season at the Opera House. Five comedians, each of whom cannot only sing, but also dance, are in the cast, and their work together, as well as in their single specialties, is a revelation in the line of grotesqueness and originality.

The ladies are all young and pretty, and appear in costumes that are remarkable for their beauty and novelty in color combinations, as well as for their modish appearance.

The company has been particularly selected for their singing and dancing abilities, and many European novelties in both lines are introduced in the piece.

A Good Show.

To-night is the last appearance of "McNulty's Visit" at the Grand, and another large house will no doubt see the closing of the engagement. The company, which is headed by Murphy and Mack, is a good one and worthy of the large houses it is drawing. The play is one of those funny skits that make every one laugh and send the audience home in a good humor. The last part of the week will be filled with A. Y. Pearson's "White Squadron," which has packed the theatres all over the country, and will no doubt do the same here.

Stomach and Bowel Complaints are best relieved by the timely use of Dr. Witt's Colic and Cholera Cure. Insist on having this preparation. Don't take any other. Logan Drug Co., Wheeling, W. Va., B. F. Peabody, Benwood, and Bowie & Co., Bridgeport, O.
